THIS IS WAR

This Week - 07/07/2010

One festival after another, and the Band paused in France for two nights of headlining shows, including a theme night—the Blood Ball! A few days rest and the Band then proceeded to Belgium for the Rock Werchter Festival, continuing to Italy for the Heineken Jammin Festival soon after. This week, the band takes a little time out to enjoy local scenery before heading to Scotland and Ireland this coming weekend.

Mars is returning to the United States for a series of shows in August, September, and October! Please refer to the Official Tour Page for all currently available ticket information regarding recently announced dates.

Additionally, Mars will be returning to the international front for a series of additional shows this fall, and Golden Ticket To Mars Packages are now available! Visit the Official page for more information.

Weekly Picks From the Band

Book of the Week

Power Trip: From Oil Wells to Solar Cells—Our Ride to the Renewable Future: In the tradition of Eric Schlosser's Fast Food Nation and Thomas L. Friedman's Hot, Flat, and Crowded, journalist Amanda Little maps out the history and future of America's energy addiction in a wonk-free, big-picture, solutions-oriented adventure story.

Movie of the Week

La Femme Nikita begins when punkish, psychotic, and drug-ridden Nikita fires her gun into a cop's face following the stick-up of a drug store, and is promptly imprisoned, sentenced to death. Instead of dying, however, she's informed that an alternate to execution exists: receive covert government training as an assassin.

Album of the Week

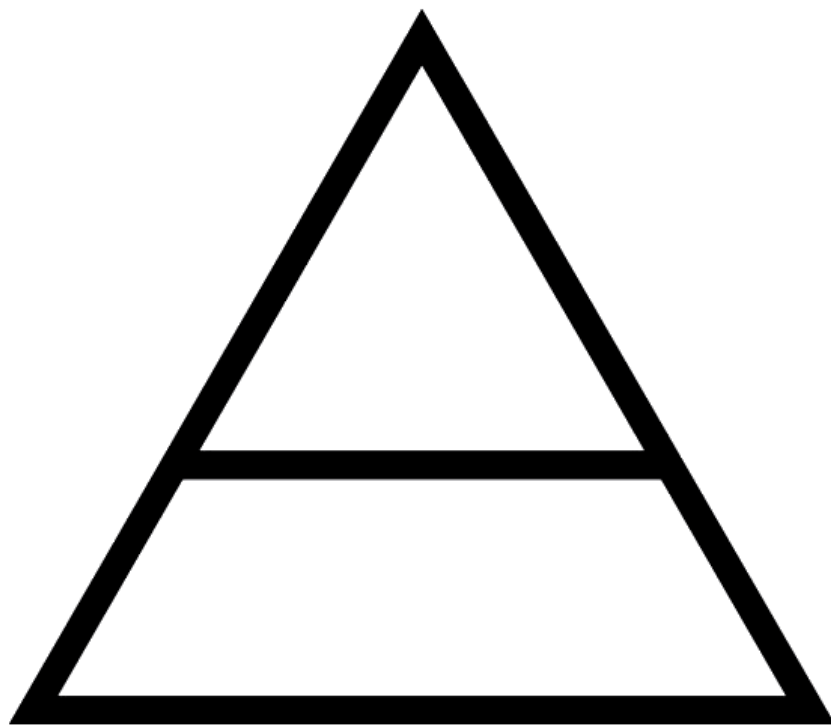

Violent Soho is the second official studio album of Violent Soho, a band from Brisbane, Queensland. The album contains re-recorded material off of the band's first album, We Don't Belong Here. Although the self-titled is not technically their first record, it is commonly referred to as their "Debut Album".

Restaurant of the Week

For more than six decades, Du-par's has been a part of the LA coffee shop tradition, serving millions their famous breakfasts and fresh fruit pies.
